Famous Nippono Aug. 19th.

Politics makes strange bedfellows, ain't it?

The Wilkes-Barre News Dealer has been sued for libel by W. C. Shepherd.

The New Columbus Evolutionist has been discontinued at the end of its first volume.

When the weather gets too warm here, go to Proctor Inn for a week. It is always cool there.

A festival will be held at McHenry,s Church in Orange Township on Saturday evening, August 22nd for the benefit of the church at that place.

The Mission Band will have an ice cream festival and chicken supper at Kitchen's church Williversville Saturday evening Aug. 15. Supper 15c.

After the edition of the Republican had been run off this week, two of the employees dropped the second page form while carrying it up stairs, and made "pi" of it.

Harman & Hassert are crowded with work. They have been receiving new orders as fast as others were filled. They have had a genuine "boom" for some time past.

What is more comfortable in the way of a ride than a solid train of Pennsylvania R. R. passenger cars? You can have this comfort Aug. 19th, Nippono Park Excursion.

J. W. Mears had one of his hands badly mangled one day last week, while at work on a moulding machine, his small finger and next one were caught in the cogs. Both fingers were crushed.

The small vote cast for three of the candidates for sheriff is no indication of their unpopularity. All the combinations were made on Mourey and Knorr, and the others were left out of the race. It was a case of expediency, and not a lack of friends

The names of the nominees of the Democratic convention are hoisted at our mast head this week. They are the choice of a majority of those who saw fit to attend the delegate election, and will have our unqualified support.

A dude in a sash stepped into an uptown drug store to get something for a pain in the stomach, remarking that he couldn't imagine how he got it. "That's clear enough," remarked the waggish druggist, "panes usually go with a sash."

Mrs. I. K. Miller was severely burned Wednesday of last week. She was removing a pan of fat from the fire when it became ignited. A great blaze ensued when she attempted to put out the fire by dashing on water. As the water struck the fire the burning fat flew into her face and on her hands.

Mr. Thomas L. Stackhouse of Catawissa township, sent to this office as a gift, a large box of delicious plums on Wednesday. They came by express prepaid, with a very nice letter. The editors and all the employees of the office enjoyed them greatly, and Mr. Stackhouse has our thanks for thus kindly remembering us.

The Wyoming Democrat entered upon its thirty-first year last week, having been under the present management for twenty years. It is a fearless Democratic journal, full of news and a model of mechanical neatness. It has just put on a new dress of type, and its apparent prosperity is well merited. We extend our congrtulations, and best wishes.

Our local in last issue in reference to the hen of Peter H. Freeze has awakened a rivalry among the hens of the county. Mr. Joshua Davis of Willow Springs notifies us that on Monday a hen of his laid an egg that measured 6⅝ inches one way and 8 inches the other and weighed 4 ounces.

The Hess re-union will be held at Hess Grove, Rupert, Pa., Thursday of next week, Aug. 20th. A large attendance is expected. Mrs. Phillips will furnish provisions for the occasion, so that those who do not wish to bring lunch can be served on the ground.

Democratic County Convention.

The democratic county convention met in Court House Tuesday August 11th at 11 o'clock. The Convention was called to order by Jno. R. Townsend county chairman.

J. J. McHenry of Benton, nominated Hon. Wm. Krickbaum as chairman of the Convention, seconded by Mahlon Hamlin of Catawissa. On assuming the chair, Mr. Krickbaum read a speech which we give in full, as follows:

MR. CHAIRMAN AND GENTLEMEN OF THE CONVENTION.

I feel highly honored in being selected as presiding officer by the representatives of the Columbia County Democracy in their Convention here assembled, and trust I may be able to perform its onerous duties impartially and to the satisfaction of the Convention.

We have met here to-day in accordance with the established rules of the party to record the will of the people as expressed at the polls at the late primaries.

Let us do this duty with an eye single to the welfare of the party and the interests of the people, and having done this, adjourn to our homes and constituencies and begin the great work of the Campaign. Beside our County Ticket, we have a State Treasurer and an Auditor General to elect. Just now it is important that a good, able, honest, clean, man should fill each of those places. We want men there who have the backbone to enforce the law, let it hit who it may. No rings: no, no.

The proud Democracy of our sister states, particularly Ohio, are now in line fighting the enemies of the people, and let us not be laggards in the race, but keep pace with our brothers of the west and redeem our grand old Commonwealth from the thralldom of the corrupt leaders of the Republican party or its ring bosses.

I would fail to do myself justice on this occasion if I did not say that the Democracy can point with pride to the administration of Grover Cleveland as President of the United States; and to the clean unflinching Robert E. Pattison, who so ably occupies the Chief Executive Chair of this grand old Commonwealth. Yes, the Governor is death on theives and robbers; the good of the people is as dear to him as the palm of his hand. Thanking you again, we will proceed with the business.

Resolved, That in Robert E. Pattison, the Democratic Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, the people have an honest, able and fearless Executive Officer, whose administration of public affairs recalls and emulates the glorious days and memory of Simon Snyder and Francis R. Shunk.

That the determination evinced by the Governor to expose, detect and punish all the participants, official and others, who have been and are connected with theonerous plundering ring of John Bardsley, proves that we have in this case the right man in the right place, and we take this occasion to say to Democrats of State and Nation that if he shall be called to serve his party and his country in a more exalted position, which indications suggest he may be—he will still be found, we sincerely believe, the right man in the right place.

WHEREAS, It is the practice of some of the election districts in the county to have the officers holding the electon to number the ballots, and

WHEREAS, Neither the rules of the Democratic party nor the Act of Assembly governing primary elections authorizes or requires it to be done;

Resolved, That we recommend the discontinuance of the practice, so that every man's ballot shall be free and and secret.

Resolved, That the course of our Representatives in the Lower House of the State Legislature, Messrs. Krickbaum and Tewksbury, during the last session, in supporting as they faithfully did, the equalization of Tax Bill and other important measures in the People's interest, meets our grateful approval, for which we desire to put on record, this public acknowledgement.

Resolved, That Maj. S. P. Hanly of Berwick, Daniel McHenry of Fishingcreek, Luther Eyer of Catawissa, Jerre Fowler, of Pine twp. and Daniel Curry of Centralia be the delegates to the coming state convention with power of substitution.

Resolved, That two conferees from this county be selected to meet similar conferees of this Senatorial District with power of substitution and that they are hereby instructed to use all honorable means to secure the nomination of Andrew L. Mrs. Burns, the new matron, has assumed her duties at the school.

The attendance in September promises to be unusually large. Applications for rooms are coming in daily.

The office, parlors and teachers' rooms are being handsomely decorated with felt paper. The job is being done by our fellow townsmen James H. Mercer.

Prof Cope is spending a part of his vacation in trying to fish the Brandywine, of Chester county, empty. He writes that he has gained seven pounds in avoirdupois.

ACCUSED OF MURDER.

Marvin Brockway McHenry, residing at Green Creek near Benton was arrested last Thursday and taken to Danville, where a habeas corpus hearing was held before Judge Ikeler, on the charge of the murder of Anton Butsbach, an inmate of the Danville Asylum. Brock McHenry as he is commonly called, is a son of Ellis McHenry of Benton. He had been employed at the Danville Asylum for fourteen months, and never had any trouble with any of the patients. There was a rule of the institution that certain wards should not be entered by the help alone, but this rule had been frequently violated. Butsbach, the patient, was considered a dangerous man, and his cell was seldom visited by one person alone. McHenry had been accustomed to enter his cell and on Saturday morning at 6 o'clock he went in to clean it. Soon after entering Butsbach attacked him; he seized McHenry by the legs and a tussle ensued, when McHenry called for help; assistance soon arrived, and they were separated. Butsbach again attacked McHenry when the latter kicked him, breaking both jaws. Another scuffle ensued during which fierce blows were given by both. McHenry was again released and taken from the cell. The matter came before the officers of the institution who regretted the incident, but thought it best that McHenry should leave the place; he accordingly came home on the evening train. On Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock Butsbach died from the injuries he received. Butsbach was from Wilkes-Barre and at one time had plenty of money. He kept a saloon, and by continuous drinking lost his reason. He was muscular and was considered a dangerous man.

McHenry was released on $2500, bail for his appearance at September court. His bondsmen are Rohr McHenry and H. H. Hulme of Benton.

The committee also recommended that water meters be placed in the Third & Fifth Street buildings. On motion it was determined that meters be placed in both buildings. On motion it was resolved to hold next meeting Friday August 20th, when all teachers are expected to be present and sign their agreements.

TUESDAY'S STORM.

Tuesday afternoon the air was delightfully cooled by rain. There was a heavy storm with lightning and thunder. One flash was in close proximity to this office and disarranged our electric light wires so that they would not burn in the evening. In Madison township the roof of the barn on the poor farm was blown off, and in Mt. Pleasant much damage was done to the corn by hail.

SAMUEL FRY.
JOHN FRY.

In THE COLUMBIAN of July 31 was announced the killing of Wellington White and three children, and the serious injury of his wife and another child, by being run over by the cars at Elmira, while driving across the track. We have recently learned that Mr. White was formerly a resident of Bloomsburg, having been a member of the Faculty of the Normal School during Dr. Griswold's administration, about 1876. He had been in China as a missionary for the past ten years, and was at home on a visit, expecting to return to China in September. He and his wife had expected to visit Bloomsburg this month.

Who ever saw a wealthy editor of a country newspaper, who made his money in that business? They are as scarce as hen's teeth. And the reason is that he has invested in his plant from three to ten thousand dollars; his office duties are such that he cannot devote much time to any other business; he is obliged to pay his hands and all his bills for supplies in cash; and then he must send out his paper all over the county, and wait for his money one, two, three or more years, until it suits his subscribers to pay. The result is that instead of having cash on hand, he soon has several thousand dollars standing out, some of which he never gets, and often he must borrow money to meet his obligations. And yet there are people who think that editors have nothing to do but look for some way to spend the wealth that comes rolling into their coffers! How many farmers are there who are willing to sell any of their stock or produce on three years credi Or how many mechanics are there wh will do work for an editor, and wa that long for their wages?

THE WALLED IN ROOM.

I opened my eyes and looked around me. A man was leaning over my bed; near the man stood a woman with a bonnet with great white wings on the sides, holding in her hand a moist compress. The room was plain and neat, with clean white walls. On a table, covered with a great napkin of yellow linen, I noted a number of strange objects—rows of little vials, and a brown earthen jar filled with bits of ice. Through the muslin curtains, which bellied out from the windows in the balmy air, I could see a patch of blue sky and the tops of green trees bending lightly in the breeze. Where was I? It seemed like a long dream which I had had: my head felt empty, my limbs ached, and I could not think.

The man gently lifted my head, and gave me a few drops of some liquid, which I swallowed with avidity.

"Well, Mr. Furniss," he said, "how do you feel now?"

"Eh, what?" I cried. "Where am I?"

"You are in my house, my dear sir, and we shall take good care of you. Now," he added, replacing my head on the pillow, "be quiet and go to sleep."

I gazed at him for a long time, and all at once I recognized Dr. Bertram, the celebrated specialist in insanity. A shudder passed through my frame. Why was I in Dr. Bertram's hospital instead of my own home near Phœnix Park, with my books, my herbs, and my microscopes around me? His hospital was for mad people!—and that sister of charity, those vials, that bowl of ice—my God, I must be mad! But why? How?

"How long have I been here?" I asked after a time.

"For four weeks, Mr. Furniss. But you must be quiet and sleep. Now do not try to talk."

For a month! Was it possible? What had happened? But even as I asked myself these questions little by little I went off to sleep, and I saw, in a billowy meadow, a road covered with blood and bordered on either side with monstrous microscopes shaped like trees, a road on which two little girls played at pitch and catch with a severed head, while Dr. Bertram, comically bonneted with a religious cap, rode astride of a dead body, which reared and pranced and kicked till he could scarcely keep his seat.

The next morning I was better, and day by day I improved, though that horrible nightmare came to me each night. But it grew less and less distinct, and after a few weeks it almost ceased to trouble me.

One evening the doctor, whom I had not seen during the day, seated himself near my bed.

"Well," said he, feeling my pulse, "you are doing famously. I'll have you out, as good as new, in a few days. But you have had a close shave. It has been one of the prettiest cases of cerebral congestion I ever handled—a beautiful case. Why, it is a wonder you are alive now. Tell me, how is your memory; can you remember what happened before you were brought here?"

"I—I don't know; I can not think. I have passed through something fearful. What it is I can not say. From the faint glimmer of recollection that comes to me I have the sensation of having been dead—murdered! Oh, it is frightful! My brain is weak yet. Then, the child, a pretty golden haired child—rolling on the floor."

"Come, come, this will never do," said the doctor. "You can tell me all about it in the morn——"

"No, now, doctor," I cried. "It is coming back to me. Yes, I have it now."

Here is an exact transcript of my recital as I told it to Dr. Bertram and later to the magistrate.

You know my passion for natural history. Well, scarcely a week passes that I do not go into the country botanizing. That day I went to Glacnevin, where, as you may know, the marshy meadows are rich in curious plants, infusoria, and diatoms. I was returning, and was almost in Dublin with my box full of rare specimens, on which I expected to make a report that would astonish the Botanical Society, when I saw a little girl, certainly not over 5 or 6 years old, who was all alone, crying as if her little heart would break. I approached her, but at sight of me she redoubled her cries. I could see that the little one was lost, and that she did not know where to go, so I spoke to her kindly, and, by dint of promising her unlimited bonbons, got her to tell me that her name was Lizzie, and that she lived in Beresford place in Lower Abbey street.

I took her hand, and we soon started off, talking together like old friends. She was a beautiful child, fresh and rosy, with great candid eyes and fair hair, which was cut short over her eyes and fell in golden ringlets about her shoulders. She trotted bravely along, her soft little hand in mine. As we walked she told me remarkable tales, in which figured a big, black horse, a little knife, a doll, and a number of people I did not know.

Lizzie was afraid she would be scolded when she arrived home, but she was not, and I—I was received with transports by her mother, who was half distracted. Never was gratitude expressed so heartily and pleasantly. Who was I, where did I live, how did I happen to find her, and a thousand like questions were showered upon me.

"Oh, Mr. Furniss," said the mother, "you are the saviour of my child. How can we express our gratitude? We are not rich, but such a debt can not be paid in gold. How happy my husband will be to repeat my thanks to you. He is still at his office, but—will you do a great kindness, will you honor our humble board to-morrow? I shall have a savant here like yourself, and you two will enjoy each other's company, I am sure. And my husband will be so happy to have you."

I thanked her for the invitation and promised to be on hand.

At the appointed hour I was shown into their modest parlor, and you may be sure the husband's gratitude was no less warmly expressed than the wife's. And little Lizzie threw her arms around my neck and showered on me the innocent caresses of a happy child. I seemed, indeed, to be one of the family.

The dinner was a merry one, the savant seemed to be an interesting man—in brief, I passed an excellent evening.

The air had been heavy the whole day and in the evening a storm came on. Thunder claps succeeded one another without interruption and the rain fell in torrents. Whether it was the effect of the storm, of the suffocating heat, or of the wine I had drank, I felt a strange melancholy—I could not breathe comfortably.

I was about to set out for home, however, for it was late and my house was at some distance; but they insisted that I should stay. It would be foolish to expose myself to such a tempest, when I was not feeling well; the mother begged me with such a good grace that I felt forced to remain and pass the night in that hospitable house.

They ceremoniously conducted me to my room, and there wished me good night. I even remember that little Lizzie having fallen asleep in her father's arms, I kissed her little cheek, paled by sleep, and her dimpled little arms.

Left alone, I began to undress slowly and wander about the room, as one always does when one sleeps in a strange place. I felt as if I should smother in the close atmosphere of the room. Before getting into bed I wanted to inhale a little of the outside air, and in spite of the roaring of the storm I tried to open the window. It was a false one.

"Well, well!" I exclaimed, a little surprised.

I thought I would remove the chimney screen; it was a false chimney. I rushed to the door—it was locked. Fear seized me, and, holding my breath, I listened. The house was quiet, all seemed to be asleep. Then I inspected the room carefully, straining my ears for the least sound. On the floor, near the bed, I noticed spots; they were blood—dried and blackened blood! I shuddered, and a cold sweat stood out on my forehead.

Blood! Why should there be blood there? And I saw that a whole sea of blood must have been spilt there, for a great space around the hard wooden floor had been freshly scrubbed and scraped. All at once I cried out. Under the bed I had seen a man stretched out, motionless as an overturned statue. With trembling hands I touched the man. He did not move. With trembling hands I seized the man by the feet and drew him forth—he was dead. His neck had been cleanly cut, as with one stroke of the razor, and the head held to the trunk only by a slender ligament.

I thought I should go mad. But something must be done—the assassin might come at any moment. I raised the body to place it on the bed. I made a false step, and the head turned over, swung to and fro for a moment like a pendulum, and then, detached from the trunk, fell on the floor with a dull sound.

With great difficulty I introduced the decapitated trunk between the sheets. I picked up the head and placed it on the pillow, like that of a sleeping man, and, having blown out the candle, I slipped under the bed.

I did all this mechanically, without thought of defense or safety; it was instinct that prompted me, not intelligence or reflection. My teeth chattered; my hands were wet with a thick moisture. I felt as if I had gone to bed in a charnel house.

I remained there in that awful fear for minutes, hours, months, years, centuries—I do not know how long. I lost all idea of time and place. All was silent. From without the noise of the storm and the whistling of the wind came to me softened and sad, like moans.

I could not picture to myself the assassin who was coming—who was there, perhaps. In that state of horror I could see only little Lizzie, fair, rosy, and frank, with her doll and her great hat; I could see her sleeping in her father's arms; now and then she lightly raised her eyelids and disclosed her eyes, which seemed to me to be bold, implacable, cruel, murderous.

The door opened, but as softly as the scratching of a mouse. I bit my lips till the blood came to keep from crying out. Now a man stepped in with gliding tread, with infinite precautions to avoid touching the furniture. It seemed to me as if I could see the cruel, clutching fingers gliding over my clothes, searching my pockets. Then the steps came nearer—seemed to graze me. I felt that the man was bending over the bed, that he struck one fierce blow. Then I knew nothing more.

When I recovered consciousness the room had become silent again. But fright held me nailed to the spot. At length I decided to escape—with what caution you may imagine. On tiptoe I gained the door, which had not been closed. Not a sound, not a breath. Feeling my way, I passed into the hall. I waited to see a head thrust suddenly from out the shadows, a knife gleam in the dark. But no—the brute, glutted with crime, slept without remorse. I descended the stairs, drew the bolt of the door, and half fainting, with the blood frozen in my veins, I fell into the gutter of the deserted street.

Dr. Bertram had listened to my recital with the deepest interest.

"And there I found you, Mr. Furniss--and in what a state! Could you recognize the house?"

"Yes," I replied; but to what end?"

"Well, let me cure you, and then we will go together to the house of these assassins.

Eight days later the doctor and I stood in Lower Abbey street. I recognized the terrible house. All the blinds were drawn. In front of the door a placard was placed, bearing the words: "To Let."

I inquired of the former residents from a neighbor.

"They have been gone a month and more," she replied. "It's a great pity, for they were very nice people."

"Mercy me!" said Miss Passee; "I sincerely hope they will not pass the law making a day of eight hours." "Why not?" "Just think how rapidly we shall age! Just three times as fast."—[Harper's Bazar."

HOW SHE LOST HER LOVER.

'Twas a summer ago when he left me here,
A summer of smiles with never a tear,
Till I said to him with a sob, My dear!
Good-bye, my lover; good-bye!

For I loved him, oh, as the stars love night!
And my cheeks for him flushed red and white
When he first called me his heart's delight;
Good-bye, my lover; good-bye!

The touch of his hand was a thing divine,
As he sat with me in the soft moonshine,
And drank of my love as men drink wine:
Good-bye, my lover; good-bye!

And never a night as I knelt in paryer,
In a gown as white as our own souls were,
But in fancy he came and kissed me there
Good-bye, my lover; good-bye!

But now, O God! what an empty place
My whole heart is! Of the old embrace
And the kiss I loved, there is not a trace;
Good-bye, my lover; good-bye!

He sailed not over the stormy sea,
And he went not down in the waves, not he;
But oh, he is lost, for he married me;
Good-bye, my lover; good-bye.

He—Why, yes, of course, if you think so.

She—And her eyes; oh, don't you think they are splendid?

He—Very.

She—And hasn't she the cutest little mouth, and the kindest, dearest face?

He—Yes, indeed.

She—And such beautiful complexion; and what hair!

He—Very beautiful.

She—And then, isn't she graceful, and doesn't she waltz divinely?

The Pennsylvania Railroad's Double Lihes to Atlantic City.

The Pennsylvania Railroad's twin lines to Atlantic City—the West Jersey and Camden and Atlantic Railroads—now operated as a double-track line, and famed far and wide as the Pennsylvania's Double Lines to the Sea, have long been known as the old and reliable route to Atlantic City. The Camden and Atlantic Rai road was the pioneer, and for a long time the only route, to what has now become one of the most popular and attractive seaside cities of the world, Many Philadelphians well remember how in the earlier years of the first railroad they traveled slowly and in inferior cars to Atlantic City, when one or two trains a day more than sufficed to accommodate the entire volume of traffic, and many of them may also recall the ill-success of the railroad venture, which was so pronounced, that at a meeting of the directors the proposition to take up the rails and sell them for scrap iron was gravely discussed. Wiser counsel prevailed, however, and from this humble origin sprung what is to-day the most complete and best-appointed system of railway leading to any seaside resort in this country.

The West Jersey and Atlantic from Newfield to Atlantic City was built and inaugurated with conspicuous success under Pennsylvania management, the Camden and Atlantic was acquired, and the two lines consolidated into the Pennsylvania's Double Lines to the Sea. These lines are now operated with that skill and vigor for which the Pennsylvania Railroad is celebrated. The roadway of each line is in excellent condition. Laid with steel rails, stone ballasted, fitted with that greatest of time-savers—the track tank—protected by the block-signal system, its physical condition can only be compared to those blue-ribbon sections of the main line track that attract the admiration of the chance traveler and provoke the unstinted praise of the railway expert.

For the complete equipment of this splendid road-bed the great resources of the Pennsylvania System are freely drawn upon. The choicest passenger coaches, parlor cars constructed expressly for this service, and stalwart hard-coal burning locomotives, designated as the Pennsylvania Standard, are provided. The speed of such trains on such a road-bed is whatever the management chooses to make it, but in the exercise of a wise and conservative judgment the maximum of seventy five minutes for the run from city to sea has been adopted. This is as fast as the fastest trains in regular service in this country or abroad, and is quick enough to meet the wishes of the average traveler. These trains speed down to the sea over one track and up on the other, with no obstruction, but with a clear clean sweep of track always ahead. Safety is the prime essence of this plan, and comfort is assured by reason of substantial equipment, a clean well ballasted, firmly established road-bed without dust, and locomotives without cinders. These characteristics, briefly outlined, form the basis of the wide and well-earned popularity of this the first-class route to Atlantic City.

The high favor in which this route is held is by no means local, but extends to all sections of the land where the influence of the Pennsylvania Railroad is felt. A large number of trains from the south, east, west, northwest, and southwest deliver their passengers in Philadelphia at varying hours each day and all of them may find a convenient connection at the foot of Market street (the central seashore station of Philadelphia) for prompt conveyance to Philadelphia's great sea-side suburb.

By the provision of these unsurpassed facilities of travel, the Pennsylvania Railroad Company has not only developed in greater measure than any other agency this city by the sea, but has nationalized it.

POULTRY NOTES.

No. 27.

The scrub must go.

This is an age of improvement.

And you will notice that the best and most successful farmers are keeping pace with this improvement.

The person with the best stock has no trouble making sales. The party that wishes to buy the best has the cash to buy with.

To make poultry pay thoroughbreds must be kept. The hen that lays but few eggs a year, must give way to the one that will lay from 150 to 225 eggs a year.

If you are not able to have a trio of fine fowls, purchase a thoroughbred male and put with your best hens. The improvement in one year would repay the cost many times, and you will find the most successful man of to-day clinging to this idea. The best is none to good.

YOUR SILVER DOLLAR.

How to Tell Whether It Is Good or a Base Counterfeit.

The Treasury Department is worried by more than one first class counterfeit, if the statement of a Department clerk who is now visiting at his home in this city is true. Said he last night: "The new $2 silver certificate counterfeit is so dangerously like the original bill that the entire issue may be called in as the best way out of the difficulty. The counterfeits which cause the Treasury officials the most uneasiness are bogus bills; counterfeit coins ordinarily do not cause much trouble because the work is rarely well done, and the 'queer' coin are quite easily detected and suppressed. But there is one bogus dollar in circulation that is so nearly like the genuine that it is causing considerable alarm. Thomas Carvalho, the Treasury expert, who is said to be the best judge of money in the world, recently was sent to Birmingham, Ala., to testify as an expert in a counterfeiting case. In explaining to the jury the secret marks which the genuine silver dollar bears he said: 'The designer of the standard silver dollar, Mr. Morgan, stamped the initial of his name in two places on the coin. All genuine standard silver dollars bear one minute letter "M" stamped on the neck of the Goddess of Liberty just at the point where the longest lock of hair crosses the neck line, and another on the reverse side of the coin, on the left half of the loop of ribbon tied about the wreath.'

"Drawing from his pocket a handful of coins he left the witness stand and walked over to the jury box. 'If you will look at these dollars very carefully,' said he, 'you will observe the marks to which I have alluded.' He then distributed the dollars among the jurors and asked them to examine the coins. After studying awhile all but three of the jurors were able to make out the minute 'M's.' Then expert Corvalho smilingly volunteered to point out the secret initials to the three gentlemen whose eyes were not acute enough to detect them. Taking the three coins in his hand he glanced at them casually. A puzzled look overspread his features; he closely scrutinized the dollars, walking over to the window to get the benefit of a clearer light. Then he turned to the jury, and said: 'Gentlemen, these coins well illustrate the point I was attempting to impress upon you. They are counterfeits.' Just before entering the courtroom Mr. Carvalho stepped into a grocery and had a $20 bill changed in order to get enough dollars to pass among the jurors. Three of those coins were bogus."—[Chicago Mail.

Carriage Nomenclatare.

It is probable that the idea of a vehicle with wheels, to be drawn by animals, must have occurred to men soon after the domestication of the horse and ox. The first attempts in this direction were very rude. In this country the prevalent mode of traveling for the first two centuries was on horseback, the roads preventing any very extensive use of wheeled vehicles; but as the country has increased in wealth, and the highways, city and town streets have improved, the demand for public and private carriages has grown to be very large. A writer in the Detroit Free Press gives the origin of the names of some of the most common vehicles now in use.

The popular Hansom derives its distinguishing title from a certain Mr. Hansom.

The Brougham, which was first used by the famous Lord Brougham, took its title from that nobleman.

Landau, a city in Germany, was the locality in which was first made the style of vehicle bearing that name.

Hacks originally were termed hackney coaches, because they were drawn by hackney—a name applied to easy going horses.

The Gig was given that name from its peculiar jumping and rocking motion, the word being taken from the French gigue, signifying the jig or a lively dance.

The term Coach is derived from the French coche, a diminutive form of the Latin conchula, a shell, in which form the body of such conveyances was originally fashioned.

Coupe is French in origin, being derived from the verb cooper (coopay) to cut. This was considered an appropriate designation because it greatly resembled a coach with the front part cut off.

Seldom, if ever, is the full term Omnibus applied to those lumbering vehicles. With the characteristic brevity of English speaking races the title has been changed to Bus. These were first seen in Paris in 1827, the original name being nothing more than the Latin word signifying "for all."

Cab is an abbreviation of the Italian capriola, which is changed to cabriolet (cabriolay) in French. Both words have a common derivative—cobriole—signifying a goat's leap. The exact reason for giving it this strange appellation is unknown.

A Man Raises His Hat.

1. When he bows to a lady or an elderly gentleman.

2. When he is with a lady who bows to any person, even if the other is a total stranger to him.

3. When he salutes a gentleman who is in the company of ladies.

4. When he is in the company of another gentleman who bows to a lady.

5. When he is with a lady and meets a gentleman whom he knows.

6. When he offers any civility to a lady who is a stranger to him.

7. When he parts with a lady after speaking to her, or after walking or driving with her, etc.

In the elevator, where there are ladies, men may keep on their hats with perfect propriety. Nine out of every ten do, with good and sufficient reason. Elevators are draughty places and are public conveyances, though within doors. To raise the hat when a lady enters is becoming courtesy, but this is very different from standing with the hat off while an elevator mounts to the thirteenth floor. A hat when not on the head is in the way in an elevator. It is embarrassing to the occupants to feel that they may unwittingly spoil a good hat by an unwary turn that knocks it in or makes havoc with the nap.—[The Correct Thing.

"Keep It Out of the Paper."

"Keep it out of the paper" is the cry which the local newspaper publisher daily hears. To oblige often costs considerable, though the party who makes the request thinks the granting scarcely worth saying "thank you" for. A newspaper is a peculiar article in the public's eye. The news gatherer is stormed at because he gets hold of one item, and is abused because he does not get another. Young men and often young women, as well as older, perform acts which become legitimate items for publication and then rush to the newspaper offices to beg the editors not to notice their escapades. The next day they condemn the same paper for not having published another party doing the same thing they were guilty of, forgetting, apparently, their late visit to the printing office. The subscribers expect to read the news, and there is always wonder when, for charity's sake, an item on the street and in everybody's mouth is not found in the next issue of the paper.

It's Larceny to Cheat the Publisher.

A newspaper in Ohio recently brought suit against forty-three men who would not pay their subscriptions, and obtained judgment in each case for the amount of each claim. Of these twenty-eight made affidavit that they owned no more than the law allowed, thus preventing attachment. Then, under the decision of the supreme court, they were arrested for petit larceny and bound over in the sum of $300 each. All but six gave bond, which six went to jail. The new postal law makes it larceny to take a paper and refuse to pay for it.—Toledo Blade.

To Newspaper Borrowers.

Did you ever pause to reflect that you are a nuisance of the first water? Do you know that the neighbor from whom you borrowed this very paper you are now reading is often greatly inconvenienced by you? He subscribes and pays for the paper for his own individual use and benefit; it is not done for your pleasure, education or comfort. He may not tell you so to your face, because the class of men who subscribe and pay for a newspaper are good, kind hearted fellows; but they do a good deal of thinking all the same when you ask for their newspaper. Stop borrowing, and you will stop making a nuisance of yourself.—Exchange.

The Local Paper.

The city papers are all right if you want them, but it is the local paper that advertises your business, your schools, your churches, your numerous societies, sympathizes with you in your affliction and rejoices in your prosperity. In short, it is your local paper that mentions the thousand and one items in which you are interested during the year, and which you do not find in the city papers.

The School of Journalism.

Many a writer of note has received his first lessons from becoming a correspondent to the country press. You may write for practice or practice to write, and the people of your village become interested in what you say. Thus you are encouraged to "press on" until, if you have talents in that line, after years of toil and hard study you probably become an author or an editor.

A member of an orchestra, which is staying at the Bedford Springs hotel for the season, had a rather unwelcome auditor to a summer night concert the other evening. The gentleman is the leading trombonist and had retired back on the hill from the hotel to give one of his favorite selections for the benefit of the hotel guests. While performing he was somewhat disturbed to see a black object steadily making its way toward him from the bush. This object, which proved to be an enormous blacksnake, crawled to within a few feet of the musician, then stopped, and rearing its head, waved it to and fro in enjoyment of the music. The performer hastily decamped, being too highly flattered, however, by the attentions of the melody-loving snake to attempt to kill it.

A Fool and His Money Soon Part.

How true some of these old sayings are. A friend of mine paid a traveling quack $50 to cure him of Scrofula, from which he had suffered two years. He gave him a bottle of stuff which only aggravated the disease. When he went to consult him the second time, the quack had left for parts unknown. Upon learning the circumstances I recommended Sulphur Bitters. Five bottles cured him.—Editor Journal and Courier. 8-7-2t.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

From our Regular Correspondent.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 10, 1891.

The meeting of the Executive Committee of the National Association of Democratic clubs to be held in New York City to-morrow is the most important meeting ever held by that committee. The secretary will present reports from nearly every state in the Union showing that the Association has far out-grown the most sanguine idea of its originators, and plans will be discussed whereby the association can render the greatest service to the party in those States holding elections this year. All talk about the committee entering into personal politics either to favor or oppose, any of the gentlemen named for the democratic nomination next year is bosh. Among its members are friends of several of the candidates, and even allowing that it were possible to use the committee as an auxiliary to somebody's boom, which it is not, no one candidate could control a majority of it.

It is difficult to keep political secrets in Washington, therefore it isn't surprising that the fact should have leaked out that candidate McKinley wrote Secretary Foster imploring his aid to raise money for his campaign. In this letter McKinley was particularly bitter against the Pittsburg glass manufacturers, who he said, had promised to contribute $25,000 but had only given $1,300. Mr. Foster's own tongue gave this away. In spite of the statement of Chairman Clarkson that the republican national committee would take no part in any of the State campaigns this year, it is known here that it has already sent a large amount of money to Ohio, and that it is now engaged in raising more, intended for the same destination. Republicans, near to the committee have boasted, also that they would buy up the People's party of Ohio, as they knew many of the leaders to be for sale.

While our new war ships are giving their officers a chance to do the agreeable to the belles of the fashionable seaside resorts in this country, that gallant old seaman, Rear Admiral McCann, the commander of the South Atlantic Squadron, is in Washington worrying because he has no flagship, the Pensacola, which he had used until recently as such, being now on her way to Mare Island Navy Yard, where it is expected she will be condemned. The other vessels in the South Atlantic are the Essex and the Tallapoosa, the latter, according to a recent private letter from a naval officer, being in such a bad condition that she will have to be condemned and sold where she is. This state of affairs isn't creditable to those responsible for it; but as long as social influence is the power that controls the Navy department there is little probabilit, of a change for the better.

"It is just as well" said a Pennsylvania democrat, "to accept with a grain of allowance all the stories told about what Quay is going to do for or against this or that presidential candidate. Mr. Quay has the fight of his life on his hands to keep control of the republican machine in Pennsylvania. If he wins, then it will be time enough for him to attempt to influence national politics, but if he loses, as I now think he will, there will be none so humble as to do the ex-boss reverence.

Col. Conger; the man who may be said to have originated the present Blaine boom, by stating upon authority that Mr. Blaine would accept the nomination, if it came to him without an effort on his part is said to have told several friends here of the difficulty he had in prevailing upon Mr. Blaine to see the matter as he did. He says that after he had successfully combatted all the arguments advanced by Mr. Blaine against accepting the nomination that he had to go through the same thing with Mrs. Blaine, who finally gave her consent although she at first said that Mr. Blaine should never become a candidate. This may be entirely so but if it is then Col. Conger is not the shrewd politician he has been generally credited with being or he never would have repeated it.

Mr. William Dickson, the District of Columbia member of the National Democratic Committee, has inaugurated a movement which is enthusiastically endorsed by everybody here, to get the National committee to vote in favor of holding the national convention next year, and many well informed democrats have expressed the opinion that the convention would either be held in Washington or in Baltimore.

Commissioner of pensions Raum did not attend the G. A. R. encampment at Detroit, and the fact has been the basis of many comments, and has revived the story that he had promised to resign before Congress meets. He has been making more explanations that do not explain, relative to the charges of negligent and careless work in his office.

Below will be found an account of the recent disturbances in China and their causes as set forth by Miss Rose Sickler, formerly of this county, who is now doing missionary work at Nankin, China. The letter was written to the Wyoming Democrat, Tunkhannock.

Shanghai, China, May 31, 1891.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—You have doubtless already received detailed reports of the riots along the Yangtse river, still a few words from a Wyoming county girl who "has been there and knows all about it" may be of interest.

Anti-foreign riots in China are so common as to lose much of there interest to the reading public. The great majority of these however, are local affairs, excited by the natural antipathy of the Chinaman to the foreigner, and terminating in the destruction of a little foreign property (to be paid for by the Chinese government) and the loss of a few heads by the rioters.

Nankin, as the seat of government for three Provinces, has always been singularly free from these outbreaks.

The fact that a disturbance has at last broken out in Nankin, as well as all the other river ports, is an index to the distinctive character of the uprising.

There exists, all over China, a very powerful secret organization known as the "Go Lace Huee." This, as its name indicates, was originally formed as a society for the relief of the aged. It has, however, developed or degenerated, as the case may be, into an association for the overthrow of the Manchu dynasty and the existing form of government. The members of this society hope, by inciting the people to anti-foreign riots, to imbroil the Chinese government in difficulty with foreign nations. They wisely calculate that external troubles will facilitate internal rebellion. This seems to be the most rational theory yet advanced to account for the popular uprising all over China. It is the opinion held by Chinese scholars with whom I have conversed.

The plan is to inflame the minds of the illiterate with stories of unheard of crime which they say are perpetrated by the foreigners. Their stock story is that the foreigners entice little children to their premises, kill them and take out their eyes to be used in making medicines. As nine-tenths of the Chinese are illiterate and ignorant, and the entire population credulous and superstitious, this story gains almost universal credence.

The motive of Christians in founding free schools and orphanages is quite incomprehensible to the unregenerate mind of the heathen Chinee, and he confidently believes that some sinister design is at the bottom of it. This is the explanation. The children are to be killed and their eyes used as medicine.

Up to date disturbances have taken place in Nyankin, Wohu, Nankin, and Chinkiang. There are mutterings all over the empire. As a resident of Nankin, and one of the party of refugees, I feel particularly interested in what took place in that city.

We regret the temporary suspension of our mission work, but believe that God will overrule all for good. The noble conduct of our native Christians during these trying times is, in itself, sufficient justification of the canse of missions.

We are still in Shanghai but hope to return soon to our field of labor.

Resp., ROSE SICKLER,
Nankin, China.

BENTON ITEMS.

Married:—On Thursday, Aug. 6, Mr. Siebert of Millville, to Miss Cora N. Raber of this place. Only the immediate friends of the family were present. The couple left on the 11.08 train for Williamsport and intermediate points. That their voyage through life may be a happy one is the wish of their many friends.

Also, on Tuesday, Aug. 4. Mr. J. M. Klinger to Miss Rettie Cole, both of this place.

The funeral of Mrs. Vernie Crossley Utt, was largely attended on Sunday afternoon.

Mr. J. B. McHenry is getting his house well under way. Our town is improving very much, and many new buildings are being put up this summer.

Mrs. James Fritz and sister Miss Stackhouse of Nanticoke are guests at the McHenry House.

Mrs. George Towle of Elizabeth, N. J., and sister Miss Lillie Fritz, are visiting friends in this place.

Mr. W. G. Heacock of Phila., Mrs. F. W. Orvis and sister Miss Lou Heacock of Brooklyn, are spending the summer with parents and friends here.

On Sunday last a small party consisting of Mrs. Fritz, Mr. B. R. Laubauch, Mr. B. Cole and Misses Lizzie Heacock, Mattie Gearhart, and Esther Gearhart took a trip to Ganoga Lake. They report having spent a delightful day. This certainly is a fine place to spend a day or vacation. Being as it is, on top of the North Mountain, a full benefit of the delightful mountain air is enjoyed at all times, and while it is extremely hot at other places, there it is cool and pleasant. The lake affords a good place for rowing and fishing. We hnow of no more pleasant place in this section.

Sam Peterman met with a serious accident on Tuesday. He was cleaning the saw dust channel under his brother's saw mill, when his hand caught in the saw, severing it just above the wrist. He was put on the train at Sugarloaf Station and brought to Benton, where the wound was dressed by Drs. Colley and O'Brien. We deeply sympathize with Mr. Peterman in his sad affiiction. Z.

Stamped out
—blood-poisons of every name and nature, by Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

It's a medicine that starts from the beginning. It rouses every organ into healthy action, purifies and enriches the blood, and through it cleanses and renews the whole system. All Blood, Skin, and Scalp Diseases, from a common blotch or eruption to the worst Scrofula, are cured by it. For Tetter, Salt-rheum, Eczema, Erysipelas, Boils, Carbuncles, Sore Eyes, Goitre or Thick Neck, and Enlarged Glands, Tumors, and Swellings, it's an unequaled remedy.

Don't think it's like the sarsaparillas. They claim to be good for the blood in March, April, and May. "Golden Medical Discovery" works equally well at all seasons. And it not only claims to do good—it guarantees it. If it doesn't benefit or cure, in every case, you have your money back.

You pay only for the good you get.

Tickets for the excursion to Nippono Park, Aug 19th are for sale at the Exchange Hotel, Bloomsburg and at all stations on the B. & S. R. R.

The Pennsylvania Rail Road Company have an exceedingly attractive pleasure resort on their line, namely The "Famous Nippono Park" situated 12 miles west of the beautiful city of Williamsport.

Economy; "100 Doses One Dollar,'
Merit: "Peculiar to Itself."
Purity: Hood's Sarsaparilla.

As a hair dressing and for the prevention of baldness, Ayer's Hair Vigor has no equal in merit and efficiency. It eradicates dandruff, keeps the scalp moist, clean, and healthy, and gives vitality and color to weak, faded, and gray hair. The most popular of toilet articles.

WANTED—Parties wishing to learn silk weaving should call at the office of the Bloomsburg Silk mill. They need a large number more workmen.

Peculiar

Many peculiar points make Hood's Sarsaparilla superior to all other medicines.

Peculiar in combination, proportion, and preparation of ingredients, Hood's Sarsaparilla possesses the full curative value of the best known remedies of the vegetable kingdom.

Peculiar in its strength and economy—Hood's Sarsaparilla is the only medicine of which can truly be said, "One Hundred Doses One Dollar." Medicines in larger and smaller bottles require larger doses, and do not produce as good results as Hood's.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Peculiar in its medicinal merits, Hood's Sarsaparilla accomplishes cures hitherto unknown, and has won for itself the title of "The greatest blood purifier ever discovered."

Peculiar in its "good name at home,"—there is now more of Hood's Sarsaparilla sold in Lowell, where it is made, than of all other blood purifiers. Peculiar in its phenomenal record of sales abroad, no other preparation has ever attained such popularity in so short a time, and retained its popularity and confidence among all classes of people so steadfastly.

Is Peculiar to Itself

Do not be induced to buy other preparations, but be sure to get the Peculiar Medicine,

FRIDAY AUGUST 14, 1891.

A full report of Mountain Grove Chautauqua Assembly will appear in next issue.

Mrs. Geo. W. Utt of Rohrsburg died suddenly last Friday night. She retired in her usual good health, but in the night was seized with a choking spell and died before assistance came.

James H. Howard, associate editor of the State Journal, an organ of the colored Democrats, published in Philadelphia, was in town last Saturday. He is a very intelligent colored man, and is much interested in the welfare of his race. He thinks that it is high time for them to do their own thinking, and not be forever the slaves of the Republican party which has been using them as mere tools for so many years. The State Journal has a circulation of nearly 5000.

Copy for change of Voorhis & Murray's advertisements was too late for this issue. They announce that their great red-tag reduction sale of furniture will close this week. Owing to unfortunate delays in getting the work started they are compelled to postpone a portion of their contemplated improvements till fall, and as the work to be done now will only disarrange one side of their building at a time their retail business will continue without interruption. Nos. 13 and 15 W. Market street, Wilkes Barre.

A ten-inch terra cotta pipe is laid from near the pump at corner of East and Main streets to the culvert under the street at Hagenbuch's. It became so filled up with sand that it was of no use, and so Street Commissioner Cadman set to work last Friday evening to clean it out. The fire steamer was put in operation and the stream turned into the drain pipe. The Friendship boys volunteered their services and they worked Friday and Saturday evenings until after ten o'clock before the pipe could be opened up. The pipe was broken in two places, and large quantities of sand were shoveled out. Mr. Cadman proposes to put it in such shape that the same difficulty cannot occur again. This is the second time the drain has been choked up.

A TROPICAL SUN.

McNAMARA'S JUDGMENT ON R. H. SINGER.

After hearing the trial of R. H. Singer, at the church of his membership at Spear, Washington Co. Pa., I conclude it my duty to say publicly that I deem him unworthy of christian or social regard; the evidence being internal, abundant and complete.

A Brilliant Record.

Wood's Business College at Scranton seems to be leading all competitors in this country. Last year thirteen teachers were employed and the school had a clientage of ten hundred and forty-four students. The new year commences August 31.

AN OLD LANDMARK GONE.

Peter Jones has torn down a portion of his dwelling preparatory to building a new house. He will build a beautiful house in modern style. The building will have a front of 18x30 and a wing of 18x20. It is his purpose to have the building ready for the plasterers before cold weather. In the near future his son Charles will also erect a new building adjoining that of his father.

There is not a person living to-day that knows when the old homestead was erected. It was owned by Jas. Thornton, Sr. when it was a frame house, and Caleb Barton says he slept in it while his grandmother lived there over 70 years ago. Mrs Peter Jones was born in the house, she being 62 years of age next April.

THEIR BLOOD WAS EVIDENTLY IMPURE.

St. Paul called the Cretans "slow bellies, costive, ill disposed and mischievous." Cactus Blood Cure would have remedied all that. Ills of the flesh vanish before pure blood. Scrofulous and specific blood poisons are now curable.

KILLED AT SEA.

IT MAY BE A BLOOMSBURG MAN.

The following despatch appeared in the daily papers last week, Thursday:

"Bridgeport, Conn., August 5.—H. V. Winbrow, first mate of the schooner Hester A. Walters, was arrested last night, charged with assault with intent to kill. It is alleged that Winbrow abused Henry Shepherd, a colored man, during the voyage to this city in a most brutal manner and just before reaching port struck his victim on the head with a belaying pin. Shepherd fell to the deck unconscious from the blow and when the vessel reached port was removed to the hospital. The blow of the pin produced concussion of the brain and since Shepherd was removed to the hospital he has been unconscious."

The colored cook who was employed at Phillips' Cafe last winter and nntill a few weeks ago was named Henry Shepherd. He had been a sailor, and lived near Bridgeport. He was under contract to return here next month to work for Mrs. Phillips, and she has heard nothing from him since he left here. It is believed that the Henry Shepherd named in this dispatch is the same man. Later reports state that he died from the blow, but his identity is not yet established.

A Natural Conclusion.

It is natural that those who have been deceived by the various nostrums that are continually offered to the public should demand a more substantial testimonial than the simple declaration of those who are interested in the sale of a medicine. Recognizing the justice of this demand, the Swift Specific (S. S. S.) Company, of Atlanta, have embodied in pamphlet form a few of the more noteworthy testimonials that have come to them unsolicited. This pamphlet, together with other interesting matter, they will take pleasure in sending to any address. Write to the S. S. S. Company, Drawer 3, Atlanta, Georgia.

To be appreciated it is necessary to see Nippono. Aug. 19th is the day.

You Don't Get What You Want

if you expect to buy Dr. Pierce's genuine medicines at less than the regular prices. You can buy counterfeits, imitations, dilutions, and substitutes, from unauthorized dealers, at what are called "cut prices," but the genuine guaranteed medicines cost more, and are worth more.

If you do get the genuine, they're the cheapest medicines you can buy, for they're guaranteed in every case to benefit or cure, or you have your money back.

But you won't get genuine, except through druggists regularly authorized as agents, and at these uniform and long-established prices:

Dr. Pierce's Golden Mdical Discovery (the remedy for all diseases arising from a torpid liver, or impure blood), $1.00 per bottle.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription (the remedy for woman's chronic weaknesses and derangements), $1.00 per bottle.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets (the original and best little Liver Pills.) 25 cents per vial.

Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, 50 cents per bottle.

The genuine guaranteed medicines can be had only at these prices. But remember, in buying them, you pay only for the good you get. There's value received, or there's no pay at all.

She was born in Northampton county August 30, 1799 and came to Bloomsburg when but 9 years of age. Her husband who died many years ago was associated with I. S. Kuhn in the butchering business. For many years she has been afflicted with cancer, and kept closly confined to the house. Last week she had a slight stroke of paralysis. Mrs. Louisa Gross was an adopted child and she alone survives her. Funeral services will be held at the house Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Queer world! Queer people! Here are men and women by thousands suffering from all sorts of diseases, bearing all manners of pain, spending their all on physicians and "getting no better, but rather worse," when right at hand there's a remedy which says it can help them because it is helped thousands like them. "Another patent medicine advertisement," you say. Yes—but not of the ordinary sort. The medicine is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and its different from the ordinary nostrums in this:—

It does what it claims to do or it costs you nothing!

The way is this: You pay your druggist $1.00 for a bottle. You read the directions, and you follow them. You get better, or you don't. If you do, you buy another bottle, and perhaps another. If you don't get better, you get your money back. And the queer thing is that so many people are willing to be sick when the remedy's so near at hand.

TO STUMP THE COUNTRY

Fifteen Democratic Orators Will Make a Big Tour.

MANY CLUBS ARE TO BE ORGANIZED

Interesting Session of the Executive Committee of the National Association of Democratic Clubs at New York. The Members Divided on Silver.

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—At the meeting of the National Association of Democratic clubs Chairman William S. Wilson, of West Virginia, presided. Ex-Lieutenant Governor Chauncey F. Black, of Pennsylvania, president of the association, was also present. The chief business of the committee consisted in listening to a report by Secretary Gardiner upon the condition of the clubs in all parts of the country. The convention of the association will not be held until sixty days after the regular national Democratic convention next year. The Democratic state committee will meet Wednesday to fix the time and place of the state convention.

Work in the Northwest.

CHAUNCEY F. BLACK.

Various encouraging reports of the growth of the organization were read. Chairman Wilson gave an account of his tour to the far northwest. The work accomplished by clubs in Utah led to the election of the Democratic ticket. The most complete organization in any state was in the new state of Washington. This organization is to hold a convention on Sept. 23, at which delegates from every state in the line of the Northern and Union Pacific will be invited to attend. It has been decided to organize a missionary itinerary composed of fifteen of the leading Democratic orators connected with the National association.

The party will leave the city of Washington on Sept. 12 and will make a complete circuit of the northwest, stopping one day at Chicago. From there they will go direct to Helena, Mon., and there organize a league of Democratic societies for that state. They will reach Spokane Falls in time for the state convention of clubs. Among the party will be Congressmen Bynum and Kenna and Chauncey F. Black. The others have not yet been decided upon.

Divided on Silver.

The committee has appointed correspondents in every county of the United States. Each county will be assessed ten dollars for the support of the order and the propagation Democratic doctrines. Questions of party policy were warmly discussed and the silver question came in for a heated debate. The committee are sorely divided on this point, but it was decided that the tariff would be made the leading feature in the south and west.

Carlisle Talks Politics.

NARRAGANSETT PIER, R. I., Aug. 12.—Senators Aldrich, Carlisle, Harrison and Allison are here as members of the senate sub-committee on finance. Mr. Carlisle yesterday talked about the political situation as follows:

"The Farmers' Alliance is a gradual atrophy, a marasmus which indicates that the organization will not, in all probability, be a serious factor in the election next year. I can see no danger in Democratic success from the Alliance."

Speaking of the probable candidates for the presidency in 1892, Mr. Carlisle said: "The Republicans will nominate President Harrison if Mr. Blaine will not consent to stand. The influence of the ladies of his family may deter Mr. Blaine, but there is a tremendous pressure upon him from his old party friends to run. He would sweep the convention, I think. No Republican is as strong as Blaine. I do not think that he will consent to run.

"Mr. Cleveland, in my judgment, is still the strongest Democratic candidate. He may have offended the extreme pro-silver men by his remarks against free coinage, but he enjoys a wonderful reputation among the people."

Will It Be Flower or Sheehan?

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—It looks like Saratoga, Sept. 15 or 16.

It also looks like Flower and Sheehan.

Such are the indications regarding the time and place for the Democratic state convention and the ticket it will bring forth. The Democratic state committee are in session at the Hoffman House today.

They Want Blaine.

HUNTINGTON, Pa., Aug. 12.—At the Republican county convention here resolutions were unanimously adopted strongly advocating the nomination of Mr. Blaine for the presidency.

"The One Man to Lead."

PITTSBURG, Aug. 8.—The newspaper press of this city, with noteworthy unanimity, has joined the Blaine boom. The Dispatch, Commercial-Gazette, Times, Chronicle-Telegraph, The Leader and The Press have all pronounced for Blaine.

The Commercial-Gazette in its leading editorial speaks of Mr. Blaine as "the one man above all others to lead his party to victory in the great battle of 1892.

McKinley's New Rival.

SPRINGFIELD, Aug. 7.—Major McKinley has another rival for the governorship of Ohio. He is John Seitz, of Seneca, who many years ago ran for the same office on the Greenback ticket. He, with a full state ticket, was nominated here yesterday by the state convention of the People's party.

Republican Clubs Choose Officers.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Aug. 7.—At the convention of the state league of Republican clubs the following officers for the ensuing year were elected:

President—Colonel E. A. McAlpin, of Westchester. Secretary—Job E. Hedges, of New York. Treasurer—Colonel Johnston L. De Peyster, of Dutchess. Vice Presidents—Clarence M. Smith, of Richmond; John M. Scatchard, of Buffalo, and Salem Hyde, of Syracuse.

Henry Gleason, of New York, and Rev. Dr. W. B. Derrick, colored, of Richmond, were elected delegates-at-large.

Ex-Assemblyman Kiernan Dead.

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—Ex-Assemblyman Philip Kiernan, of the Sixth Assembly district, died at his home, 38 Lewis street, from the effects of injuries received several weeks ago by falling off a Grand street surface car.

NO HOPE FOR LOWELL.

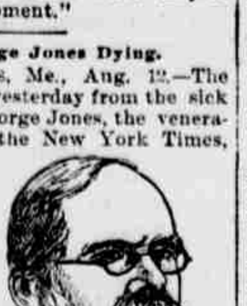
His Physician Says the End May Come Any Moment.

BOSTON, Aug. 12.—Dr. Henry P. Walcott, James Russell Lowell's physician, says: "Mr. Lowell is a very ill man. No report of his alarming condition can be exaggerated. Up to within the last three weeks his condition was not serious, though he has not been strong for over a year. He has been suffering for a long time, but he is a man of strong resolution and great courage and he has time and time again been present at entertainments when any other man would have been in bed, and where he should have been.

JAMES RUSSELL LOWELL.

"He has suffered greatly from sciatica, and at times his agony has been intense. He has borne his sufferings patiently and has been throughout most thoughtful and considerate for those about him. As to the nature of his present illness I am not willing to speak. As to whether it is a general failure of his system or not I will not say. About three weeks ago Mr. Lowell's condition became alarmingly worse. His sufferings were so great that it was necessary to use opiates constantly. How long it will continue I do not know, but you can say without fear of contradiction that Mr. Lowell's condition is such that the worst may be expected at any moment."

Editor George Jones Dying.



GEORGE JONES.

POLAND SPRINGS, Me., Aug. 12.—The news which came yesterday from the sick chamber of Mr. George Jones, the venerable proprietor of the New York Times, was quite alarming. There was a decided change for the worse since Monday evening in Mr. Jones's condition, and little hope is now entertained of his recovery. The stomach and the whole system are so deranged that nothing but bovinine and wine is retained. Mr. Jones slept at intervals on Monday evening and as night wore on into morning he sank gradually into a comatose condition, from which he was aroused only by the application of restoratives. When he opened his eyes he gazed wildly at the frescoed ceiling and seemed to be unconscious of the anxious faces gathered about his bedside. He uttered not a word, but groaned and attempted in vain to turn on his right side. A consultation was then held and the family were informed that the end was near.

Senator Vedder Better.

MANY PEOPLE SWINDLED.

How a Chicago Loan Association Fleeced the Public.

CHICAGO, Aug. 11.—Alfred Downing, N. H. Tollman and three young women clerks, occupants of the office of the "National Capital Savings, Building and Loan association of North America," room 415 Rookery building, have been arrested by United States marshals and the entire epistolary contents of the place taken to the office of United States District Attorney Milchrist. Downing and Tollman were charged with using the mails for fraudulent purposes and placed under $2,000 bonds for a hearing. The three clerks, Misses Downing, Bartholomew and Wadley, were notified that they were wanted as witnesses at the hearning.

It is charged that the men who have been conducting this association have swindled thousands of people from every state in the union and taken in from $200,000 to $350,000 and given not one penny in return. There are still two men at liberty who, it is believed, got away with most of the funds. The strangest part of the whole gigantic swindle seems to be that it was indorsed by the leading commercial agencies of the land.

THE DESPERADO ESCAPED.

Hunted by Hundreds of Men in Vain at Columbus Grove, O.

COLUMBUS GROVE, O., Aug. 10.—It now looks as though the unknown desperado who entered the Exchange bank with a revolver in each hand, shot Cashier Maple twice, fatally wounded William Vandemark, a farmer who came into the bank, stole $1,200 in greenbacks and fled, has eluded his pursuers.

Connecticut Rivers Very Low.

PLAINFIELD, Conn., Aug. 11.—The weather here is the hottest in years and the drought is something startling. All late crops are burning up in the ground and early ones have ripened by the drought so quickly that they are badly dwarfed. The rivers, ponds and other mill streams are lower than for years.

Ashland, Jewett City, Clayville, Elmville, Central Village and other places have been compelled to stop their mills for want of water. All through the valley of the Yantic, Quinnebaugh and Shetucket rivers mills are idle. Pachaug lake, that covers 14,000 acres, is nearly dry.

Married at the Pistol's Point.

LONDON, Aug. 12.—Much gossip has been occasioned in the American colony here by an action brought by Mrs. Walter Berkeley Crane, formerly Miss Alice Cooper, of New York, who is seeking to procure the annulment of her marriage. She claims that Crane made her marry him at the point of a pistol. The couple never lived together. Crane denies that any force was used.

Did Smith Kill Hannah?

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—The officers working on the Glendale murder case are endeavoring to trace one George Smith, who is now suspected of being the murderer of Hannah Robinson. Smith had been intimate with her. Officers have learned that the man seen with Hannah on the Saturday evening previous to her death was Smith.

The Standard's Editor Dead.

NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—William T. Croasdale, the editor of The Standard and chairman of the national committee of the Single Tax league, died Sunday afternoon at Merriwold, Sullivan county, N. Y., of peritonitis, after an illness of eight days. Mr. Croasdale was forty-eight years old and a bachelor.

Southern Grand Army Men Defeated at Detroit.

PALMER FOR COMMANDER IN CHIEF

A New York Man Knocked Down the Persimmons—A Spirited Debate Over the Negro Question in the Order Which Did Not End as General Veazey Desired.

DETROIT, Aug. 6.—In the fight for the next encampment Washington has defeated Lincoln, Neb.

The "southern question, or "negro question," as affecting the Grand Army of the Republic, was touched upon by General Veazey in his annual report. Referring to the disturbance in the departments of Louisiana and Mississippi over the color line, he recommended that his successor be given authority to create a separate department in Louisiana and some other Gulf states, having concurrent jurisdiction with the department already established in such state.

The Number of Veterans Living.

Adjutant General J. H. Goulding's report for the year ending June 30 shows forty-five departments, with 7,409 posts and 398,007 comrades in good standing. The amount of money expended in charities for the year was $333,639, as against $217,957 in 1870; the death roll for the year foots up 5,530, as against 5,479 last year. He believes that within five years the membership can be increased to 600,000 or 700,000, as there are 1,200,000 soldiers now living.

Quartermaster John Taylor reported the receipts for the year as $39,100; expenditures, $37,296, and the assets of the order, $24,711.

The report of the surgeon general contains a statement from Pension Commissioner Raum announcing that the amount of $116,000,000 will be expended for pensions during the fiscal year.

The Women's Relief Corps.

Over 700 women gathered in the Church of Our Father on Wednesday when the ninth annual convention of the Women's Relief Corps was called to order by Mrs. Mary Sears McHenry, of Denison, Iowa, the national president. Congress, she said, should pass a special pension law for the army nurses, and to that end the record should be completed as soon as possible. So far 26,000 names were enrolled, but of 18,000 more there was no record whatever. National Secretary Hannah Plimpton, of Iowa, presented her report showing a total membership of 77,879. The general and relief funds on hand aggregate $160,826.

CAPTAIN JOHN PALMER.

The Last Day.

DETROIT, Aug. 7.—The silver encampment of the G. A. R. is over. All day long the veterans have been leaving the city by train loads. Those that remained here amused themselves by talking over old times, visiting various pleasure resorts near the city or in general sightseeing about Detroit. The fight for commander in chief was won by Captain John H. Palmer, of Albany. Wisconsin nominated A. G. Weissert, of Milwaukee, and General Lucius Fairchild made a stirring speech in his behalf. Delegate Clark, of Illinois, seconded the Wisconsin man, reviewing his war record. Ohio nominated General Samuel H. Hurst, who at once withdrew.

Captain Palmer Elected.

The ballot resulted: J. M. Palmer, of Albany, 322; Weissert, 270; Smedburg, of California, 177. On the second ballot there were numerous defections from the Wisconsin man. Before the third ballot was ordered the California delegation cast its vote for Palmer. The latter's election was then made unanimous.

Colonel Henry M. Duffield, of Detroit, was elected senior vice commander by acclamation. Nebraska put in a claim for junior vice commander in behalf of Commander Clarkson. Delaware presented K. S. Ayres. Clarkson won on the first ballot. Committees were appointed to frame resolutions on the deaths of General Sherman, Admiral Porter and Hannibal Hamlin. Benjamin F. Stevenson, of Kentucky, was re-elected surgeon general by acclamation.

The Colored Issue Fight.

At this point the committee appointed to report upon the address of the commander-in-chief made its appearance amid a buzz of excitement, and the encampment settled down for the fight on the colored issue. It turned out that there was a majority and a minority report. The former, presented by ex-Congressman Conger, of Ohio, antagonized the proposition to create provisional departments for the colored men, thus going counter to the recommendations of the commander-in-chief.

The minority report supported the latter, and ended with a resolution recommending the erection of separate departments for the colored comrades in Louisiana and other southern states, and empowering the commander-in-chief to take action accordingly. This was greeted with groans and hisses from the colored contingent in the gallery. Decker, of the minority, argued that it was not a question of drawing the color line. The colored men had separate schools and churches, why not posts?

A Storm of Hisses.

This brought out such a storm of hisses from floor and gallery that the president threatened to clear the upstairs portion, and Decker continued, and energetically insisted that they were not trying to draw the detestable color line.

General Fairchild's Speech.

General Lucius Fairchild made the speech of the day. He took the position that if the colored men wanted to withdraw, as had been claimed, they ought to be at liberty to do so. It was evident, however, that they did not want to. Past Commander Graham, of Louisiana, presented the case of the south in an impassioned address. He said that the idea that there was a disposition to drive out colored men was erroneous.

Negroes have been heard to say: "Why should we thank the whites when it was by our own brawny arms that we have won freedom." That was the temper shown. [Hisses.] Perhaps he (the speaker) had imperiled his life for some of those that were now hissing him. [Applause.] The whites had made their home in the south, and it was their right to conform to the social rules around them. When the first application was made for a colored post it was refused. Then certain posts were organized in fraud. The speaker said that while he had no objection to colored soldiers, it was necessary to insist that the social aspect of affairs in the south demanded a change. The whites, if permitted, would be willing to withdraw and organize a department to themselves.

The Southern Men Defeated.

A score of delegates rose as he sat down, but hundreds of voices clamored for a vote. The scene was a bedlam. In the midst of the uproar Veazey put the question of adopting the minority report. There were a good many ayes, but an avalanche of "noes," the veterans in the gallery making as much noise as the delegates on the floor. Then the majority report was put and carried in the same way, while white and colored men jumped upon chairs, waving hats, canes and handkerchiefs and creating pandemonium. The southern delegates took their defeat very much to heart.

The Mount McGregor Cottage.

The committee approved the recommendation of the commander in chief that the Grant cottage on Mount McGregor should be preserved with national moneys, and that the decorating of soldiers' graves be done by an appropriation from the general government, and that the pledges of the country to the soldiers and sailors should be strictly carried out so long as a single one survives.

The Color Question Not Dead.

According to some of the most intelligent southerners in the city, the recent action of the encampment in declaring that a color line should not be drawn in the G. A. R. will prove the death blow instead of the salvation of the colored veterans south of Mason and Dixon's line.

Alleged Inconsistency.

Commander Hodges, of the department of Louisiana and Mississippi, speaking for his comrades, says: "Now, we are the men who wish to give the colored veterans a representation in the G. A. R. by having provisional departments established, and it is the National encampment which has refused them this right by declining to authorize the establishment of such a department.

"These colored men claim to be members of the G. A. R., but they can't be admitted to the floor of the encampment and were refused admission here.

They Can Frame Them.

"The opponents of our plan say that what we propose would open the door for 30,000 or 40,000 negroes in the south, but the only thing the colored men can do now is to go home and frame their so called charters, hang them up and look at them. As the matter stands they can't get any charters from our department, and our department is the only body with authority to grant charters in our jurisdiction.

"We don't want the colored men in our posts and we won't have them; so they won't get into the G. A. R."

DEATHS FROM THE HEAT.

Forty Prostrations and Eleven Fatalities at New York.

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—During the twenty-four hours ending at midnight there have been forty cases of heat prostration in this city, eleven of which have proved fatal. The thermometer registered 94 at 1:30 p. m. Tuesday. A slight thunder shower brought relief from the sultriness.

Heat Caused Crime.

CHICAGO, Aug. 12.—There have been thirty violent deaths in this city in the past two days, thirteen of them due to suicide. Of the others ten were murder. This mortality is due to the heat entirely, it being the theory of the physicians that the hot weather has an irritating effect upon those who are inclined to self destruction. The hot weather also is provocative of murder, as is shown by the figures.

Hail Fell at Lancaster.

LANCASTER, Pa., Aug. 12.—A violent storm passed over East Lancaster county last evening. At the Gap telegraph poles and trees were blown down and the fast line on the Pennsylvania railroad went through two feet of water. The storm was accompanied by a heavy fall of hail.

Danbury Factories Closed.

DANBURY, Conn., Aug. 12.—Factories here were all closed at noon, and the men working on pavements and sewers were compelled to suspend operations early in the morning. The indications are that the tobacco crop is damaged immensely.

A Utica Builder Mangled.

KENDALL'S SPAVIN CURE.

BELVERNON, Pa., Nov. 27, '90.

DR. B. J. KENDALL Co.:

Gents—I would like to make known to those who are almost persuaded to use Kendall's Spavin Cure the fact that I think it is a most excellent Liniment. I have used it on a Blood Spavin. The horse went on three legs for three years when I commenced to use your Kendall's Spavin Cure. I used ten bottles on the horse and have worked him for three years since and has not been lame.

Yours truly, WM. A. CURL.

GERMANTOWN, N. Y., Nov. 2, 1889.

DR. B. J. KENDALL Co., Enosburgh Falls, Vt.

Gents: In praise of Kendall's Spavin Cure I will say, that a year ago I had a valuable young horse become very lame, hock enlarged and swollen. The horsemen about here (we have no Veterinary Surgeon here) pronounced his lameness Blood Spavin or Thoroughpin, they all told me there was no cure for it, he became about useless, and I considered him almost worthless. A friend told me of the merits of your Kendall's Spavin Cure, so I bought a bottle, and I could see very plainly great improvements immediately from its use, and before the bottle was used up I was satisfied that it was doing him a great deal of good. I bought a second bottle and before it was used up my horse was cured and has been in the team doing heavy work all the season since last April, showing no more signs of it. I consider your Kendall's Spavin Cure a valuable medicine, and it should be in every stable in the land. Respectfully yours, EUGENE DEWITT.

Price $1 per bottle, or six bottles for $5. All druggists have it or can get it for you, or it will be sent to any address on receipt of price by the proprietors. DR. B. J. KENDALL CO., Enosburgh Falls, Vermont.

The Doomed City.

Scranton is to be congratulated upon securing "The Last Days of Pompeeii," which will be presented on the night of July 28, and each Tuesdav, Thursday and Saturday thereafter during the season. The Boston Herald thus speaks of the grand production, which will be given in Scranton precisely as it was at Manhattan Beach, Atlantic City and the larger eastern cities:

"The 'Last Days of Pompeii' continues to draw audiences that run up into the thousands at each performance. The grand spectacular piece is presented at an enormous outlay, and on a scale that is fairly dazzling. The scenery is strikingly realistic. The dance of the flower girls, the drill of the soldiers, and the novel specialties are sights worth going a long distance to see. The grand climax is the eruption of the mount, and the flying inhabitants of the city when trying to escape the fire. The fireworks display is on a grand scale, and the designs are fired by men who thoroughly understand the art."

Tickets 50 cents. Reserved seats, 75 cents. Seats in private boxes, $1. Can be secured ten days in advance of each exhibition. Single fare for round trip on all roads. See advertisement.

A FORTUNE

Inherited by few, is pure blood, free from hereditary taint. Catarrh, consumption, rheumatism, Scrofula, and many other maladies born in the blood, can be effectually eradicated only by the use of powerful alteratives. The standard specific for this purpose—the one best known and approved—is Ayer's Sarsaparilla, the compound, concentrated extract of Honduras sarsaparilla, and other powerful alteratives.

"I consider that I have been

several hundred dollars' expense, by using Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and would strongly urge all who are troubled with lameness or rheumatic pains to give it a trial. I am sure it will do them permanent good, as it has done me."—Mrs. Joseph Wood, West Plattsburgh, N. Y.

Dr. J. W. Shields, of Smithville, Tenn., says: "I regard Ayer's Sarsaparilla as the best blood medicine on earth, and know of many wonderful cures effected by its use."

"For many years I was laid up with Scrofula, no treatment being of any benefit. At length I was recommended to give Ayer's Sarsaparilla a trial. I did so, and about a dozen bottles, was restored to perfect health—weighing 230 pounds—and am now a believer in the merits of Ayer's Sarsaparilla."—James Petsy, Mine Boss, Breckenridge Coal Co. (Limited), Victoria, Ky.

"My niece, Sarah A. Losee, was for years afflicted with scrofulous humor in the blood. About 18 months ago she began to use Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and after taking three bottles was completely cured."—E. Caffall, P. M., Losee, Utah.

DR. G. C. OSGOOD,
Lowell, Mass.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."

DR. J. F. KINCHELOE,

Castoria.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me."

H. A. ARCHER, M. D.,
111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their outside practice with Castoria, and although we only have among our medical supplies what is known as regular products, yet we are free to confess that the merits of Castoria has won us to look with favor upon it."
